STEINESE TAKEOUT
an evening of Gertrude Stein one-acts off-off-Broadway where they belong

BEGINS PERFORMANCES THURSDAY, JUNE 14
AND RUNS THROUGH SATURDAY, JUNE 23
AT THE RED ROOM ABOVE KGB BAR

Producer Drew Pisarra and associate producer Eve Hartmann are pleased to announce Steinese TakeOut, an evening of Gertrude Stein one-acts to be presented at the Red Room at 85 East 4th Street, between Second and Third Avenues..

A half-dozen intrepid directors have signed on to bring an equal number of her most radical one-acts to life. How radical? How about no plot, no setting, and no pre-defined characters. Cryptic? Definitely. Absurd? Perhaps. Balderdash? Not at all. Bringing their unique visions to Bonne Annee, Captain Walter Arnold, Play I [-III], Parlor, I Like It to Be a Play, and Curtain Raiser will be respectively Ryan Bronz (co-founder of the National Theater of the United States of America), Andrew Frank (co-founder of Manhattan Theater Source), Eve Hartmann (co-founder of Fifthstreet Theater), Deanna Fleysher (creator of the long-running erotic improvisational comedy foreplay), Peter Campbell (Associate Professor of Theater at Pennsylvania State University), and Drew Pisarra who has staged a number of Stein works in New York including Ladies Voices at P.S. 122, Yes is for a very young man at the Brooklyn Arts Exchange, and The World Is Round at Manhattan Theater Source.

Tickets are $15 and may be purchased at www.smarttix.com <http://www.smarttix.com> , 24 hours a day, seven days a week or by phoning Smarttix at (212) 868-4444.
